GLOBAL ACTION
FOR GAY MEN'S HEALTH & RIGHTS

ABOUT MPACT

MPact Global Action for Gay Men's Health and Rights was originally founded as The Global Forum on MSM & HIV (MSMGF) by an international group of activists who were concerned about the disproportionate HIV burden being shouldered by men who have sex with men. We have since changed our name to reflect our desire for greater impact within the broader sexual health and human rights agendas for all men who have sex with men.

Stigma, discrimination, and violence are leading barriers to the health of our communities, especially in countries that criminalize lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans and intersex (LGBTI) people. This has been historically true, however community-led services have remained under-valued and underfunded everywhere in the world. Additionally, space for the meaningful involvement of civil society is shrinking.

That's where we at MPact come in.

Our innovative strategy for advocacy is based on our belief in the power of connection. We believe that our impact is greatest when we can connect grassroots activists to global funders, connect healthcare providers with the populations who need their services most, and connect members of our community from every corner of the world to each other.

We work to bring global attention to local concerns. MPact is directly linked to more than 120 community-based organizations in 62 countries around the world and thousands of activists online who are fighting for gay men's health and rights. Through policy monitoring, funding, and programmatic support, we can empower LGBT-led community groups in countries where being openly gay could very literally cost someone their life.

WELCOME LETTER FROM MPACT CO-CHAIRS

Dear friends and colleagues,

This year's pre-meeting is different from any we have done before. Today we will learn about the key issues facing young gay and bisexual men from twelve teams of innovators who responded to our Global Challenge for forward-thinking solutions on topics related to sexual health and human rights. Each team is youth-led and community-centred. This is a chance to band together, to share openly, to exchange ideas, and to support innovation in the global response to HIV.

The title of today's event "Out With It" encourages us all, as advocates, to make our voices heard – to be bold with our ideas and unapologetic about our sexuality. This is our eighth biennial gathering ahead of the International AIDS Conferences, and we are proud to bring together nearly 500 advocates, policy makers, researchers, clinical providers and community members from around the world who are dedicated to the sexual health and human rights of young gay and bisexual men.

The day will culminate at our closing plenary where you, our audience, will have the chance to select two solutions to move on to a pilot testing phase after today's conference, so be sure to stick around to vote for your favourite team!

THANK YOU to our twelve teams of innovators; to the hundreds of you who make every pre-conference a huge success; to the experts who are here to help facilitate these discussions; to our funders and co-sponsors, without whose support today's convening would not be possible; to the MPact staff, Board, and Steering Committee who work tirelessly to advocate on behalf of gay and bisexual men worldwide; and to the Out With It Planning Committee who steered the development of a robust and impressive program for all of our attendees.

We hope that today's program inspires you. We encourage you to insist that researchers, policy makers, funders, clinical providers and other allies attending the full week's conference speak more directly, openly and respectfully about sex, sexuality, sexual health and rights of gay and bisexual men. Network, make new friends, find support, extend some kindness. Bring home new ideas, knowledge, and partnerships to your local work. Make an impact in our work to end AIDS.

In solidarity,

George Ayala, United States (Executive Director)

Don Baxter, Australia (Co-Chair)

Othoman Mellouk, Morocco (Co-Chair)

THANK YOU!

We extend our deepest appreciation to colleagues at YTH, especially its Executive Director Sheoran Bhupendra for inspiring the design of our pre-meeting and for providing intensive technical assistance to innovative teams along the way.

We also thank the expert coaches who volunteered their time generously to work with youth-led innovation teams over the past several weeks: Alex Garner, Robin Miller, Keletso Makofane, Ben Eveslage, Adam Bourne, and Sheoran Bhupendra.

In addition, we express our appreciation to the many individuals and organizations for their amazing contributions and support: Mark S. King, Theodore Timothy Tsipiras, APLA Health, COC Netherlands, the Global Network of People Living with HIV (GNP+), the International AIDS Society (IAS) and International Civil Society Support (ICSS).

Special thanks to our Masters of Ceremonies – Mark Vermeulen and Rhon Reynolds – and to the Royal Tropical Institute, Amsterdam for sharing this incredible venue to host our pre-meeting.

MPact also thanks individuals who assisted in session planning including, all innovators, moderators, presenters, and planning committee members – you have been more than generous with your time, contributing to our stellar program.
